

ACS (INTERNATIONAL) NEWSLETTER

IN THIS ISSUE

Dear Parents, Students and Friends

Happy Birthday, Singapore! On Wednesday 9 August Singapore celebrates 52 years of independence and nationhood growth that is the envy of many countries around the world. As a school we are looking forward to celebrating Singapore's National Day next week, incorporating both a Singaporean and an international flavour into our activities. Singapore is a multicultural society, and at ACS (International) we have over 30 different nationalities making up our unique community, so it seems appropriate for us to have a National Day celebration with an International Day flavour.

Our 13th Prefectorial Board led the school assembly this week. It was encouraging to see a number of different student leaders introducing a range of activities and initiatives. The devotion was led by our head students, Kan Chi Mun and Megan Low. They shared how their personal faith had consistently helped in times of difficulty and they encouraged students to put their trust in God. They referred to several scripture passages including John 14:1 – "Do not let your hearts be troubled but trust in the LORD". They further developed this theme and referred to Bible passages which promise that God is in control – that He has a plan for us, we are not alone – and that there is Hope.

Some of the Prefectorial Board initiatives for the coming year include seeking student feedback through the ACS Voices website: an anti-bullying campaign that uses a web portal as a place for students to leave messages; the Ambassadors charity project 'Club Rainbow' with the annual 'Choice to Run' fundraiser; and a thrust to keep the new Canteen clean and tidy. We are pleased with the strong start made by this year's new leadership group.

Over the coming weeks we are looking forward to the school's new combined Philharmonic Orchestra first public performance, the third annual Thinkers' Day seminar, the next Inter-House competition and the Barrett Music Competition. Further details are found in this newsletter along with a mix of other news, student successes and coming events.

STAFF NEWS

At the end of July we farewelled Mr Robb Ross (English) who returned with his wife to China and Mrs Francesca Manganelli-Leng (French) to a post at GEMS International School. We are sorry to lose their services as each was fully involved in the life of the school but we sincerely thank them for their commitment to ACS (International) during their time with us and we wish them well in their new roles.

As replacements we welcome Mrs Kathleen Hollis (English) from the UK and Mrs Delphine Esnault (French) from France but lately teaching in Singapore. We are pleased with the quality of our new colleagues and we wish them an enjoyable and rewarding time with us.

International ACAC Conference July 2017

Our Careers and Higher Education Advisor Mrs Rita Kaur represented ACS (International) at the annual International Association for College Admission Counseling (ACAC) Conference in Cleveland, Ohio from July 7 to 11.

This year, the conference was held at the Case Western Reserve University. The International ACAC is held in either the US or Canada, and interested institutions submit their proposal to host the conference two years in advance. ACS (I), Singapore American School, Hwa Chong Institution and SJI (International) were among the other Singapore schools present.

Related sessions on college counselling and higher education advising are held during the three-day event. All participants have an opportunity to showcase their Institutions in the University and High School Fair.

Apple Distinguished Educator, Mr Zhang Youyou

In July, one of our Chinese teachers Mr Zhang Youyou spent a few days abroad in Australia at the Apple Distinguished Educator (ADE) Academy 2017. Upon his return, he shared some of his experience with us.

Welcome back to school. Could you tell us where you have been?

I went to Melbourne to attend the ADE Academy 2017 from 6 to 9 July.

What were you doing there?

I was excited to meet the ADE class of 2017 and to connect with ADE Alumni, as well as the Apple Education development team. ADE Academy 2017 provided a range of learning opportunities and workshops. The ADE Showcase was the highlight of ADE Academy, and it was impressive to watch brilliant presentations and hear the new stories shared by other ADEs.

Congratulations on being chosen to be an Apple Distinguished Educator (ADE). Can you tell us more about them?

The Apple Distinguished Educator (ADE) programme is a relationship program focused on educational excellence and leadership. That includes working with each other and with Apple to bring the freshest, most innovative ideas to learners everywhere.

Who qualifies as an ADE?

ADEs are K–12 and higher-education pioneers who are using Apple technology to transform teaching and learning.

What does an ADE do?

ADEs are recognized for doing amazing things with Apple technology in and out of the classroom. They explore new ideas, seek new paths, and embrace new opportunities. They are active leaders whose aim is to help other educators rethink what's possible with tools such as the iPad and Mac to make learning a deeply personal process for every student.

Is there any prize?

Being part of the ADE community is an honour in itself. It's an opportunity to make a difference.

There seems to be a focus on the idea of global education. Could you share some of your ideas on how technology can contribute to global education?

Apple creates a wide range of applications for education, such as Pages, Keynote, Numbers, Garage Band, iMovie, Xcode, Swift Playgrounds, iTunes U, and iBook's Author. Using these tools enable us to conduct, for example, visual storytelling, additional language learning, coding, learning reflection, creativity & humanities as well as formative assessment, professional developments and celebrating success for all learners and teachers.

Have you used these in your own classroom?

I have used many information technologies to teach Chinese. I am passionate about making Chinese learning creative, interesting, and as engaging as possible for all of my students. In order to do that, I strive to be as innovative as possible when it comes to teaching students in the classroom. For iMovie, Clips and Keynote, I shared some of the newest features with my students to help them discover the possibilities for telling stories, presenting ideas, and representing change through animations.

What do you plan to do as an ADE?

The first on my list is digital books. I learned some advanced use of widgets and template styles from ADE Academy 2017, and I would like to publish some IBDP Chinese LAL and TOK text books with my students. Then we can upload these courses to iTunes U. My students will get involved in the entire process of both publishing the digital book and creating an online course – from planning to grading. Transforming the IBDP LAL and TOK courses will bring more challenges and encourage creativity in the learning journey of my students.

The second is coding. The primary years of schooling are a great time to introduce coding concepts as a way of thinking about the everyday and digital world, and to develop skills in computational thinking. We have currently started the first computer programming (Python) workshop led by Antony Yang (6 OLD). In the near future, more programming workshops will be conducted for students to explore the language of code, enabling them to move to a digital environment by practicing key coding skills.

Thank you Mr Zhang Youyou for sharing your ideas and passion with us. We look forward to seeing what the students can create under your guidance.

Dialogue in the Dark

Dialogue in the Dark is an experience jointly organised by Ngee Ann Polytechnic and Dialogue Social Enterprise. Dialogue in the Dark employs visually-impaired guides who guide visitors in complete darkness. Its aim is to raise awareness and facilitate inclusion of marginalised people in our communities.

22 of us went to Ngee Ann Polytechnic with International Student Pastoral Care Coordinator Ms Stacey Low, and Ms Gemma Millar. The point of Dialogue in the Dark was not to scare us or intimidate us, but to give us a sense of how visually-impaired people feel and live. We learned that being visually disabled doesn't equal an inability to live life to the fullest. The fact that they can't see does not mean they don't live fulfilling and meaningful lives.

Through the experience, we got a glimpse of the insecurities, dangers and unsureness which visually disabled people experience. Although it was scary at first, we felt that it was a very meaningful experience, and resolved to be more mindful of visually-impaired people and help them when we can. It was a valuable experience for all of us.

Alumnus Timothy Lim

The school would like to congratulate Alumnus Timothy Lim (Class of 2012) on winning the Game of the Year award (Web and Mobile Category) for The Rookies international competition 2017.

Timothy is currently studying at the University of Southern California (USC). You can read more about his game here: <http://www.channelnewsasia.com/news/singapore/singaporean-undergraduate-wins-international-game-design-contest-9041184>

July 2017 was a busy month for our school's Interact Club! Our Interactors immersed themselves in a variety of meaningful activities.

Project Hunger Free

Ten students from our Interact Club took part in World Vision's Project Hunger Free – a one-of-a-kind festival of culture, ideas, and experiential learning to go behind the scenes of relief and development work around the world. They came away armed with knowledge and a renewed commitment to do their bit to achieve a hunger free world. After the event, there was a 5km Project Hunger Free run. Student Ambassador teacher-in-charge Mdm Koh Leng Leng and several Student Ambassadors participated in this run to support Project Hunger Free.

Rotary Club Dinner with District General

Our Interact Club student EXCO team had a networking session and dinner with the District General (DG) of the Rotary Club of Singapore. It was an excellent opportunity for our Interactors to meet with the DG, learn about the good work that the Rotary Club has done and their partnership with the Bill and Melinda Gates Foundation. Our students also got to network with Rotarians and fellow Interact student leaders from other schools.

Interact Leadership Training Camp 2017

A major event in the Interact calendar, the Interact Leadership Training Camp (ILTC) is an annual 3-day-2-night camp organized by the Rotary Club of Singapore, National Youth Council and Youth Corps Singapore.

Our Interact Club President, Vice-President and Secretary had the privilege of participating in the camp to learn essential leadership skills, form strong networking relationships with the Interact leaders from other schools across Singapore, and collaborate to organize community and volunteer projects for 2018.

Singapore Tour for New International Students

I was so glad to have an opportunity to travel around Singapore and learn about its diverse cultures.

The gadgets in Chinatown shops dazzled us with their variety. Chinatown also has many food stalls, which made us hungry since the morning. We then visited the Urban Redevelopment Authority (URA) city gallery which showed us how Singapore has developed over the past 52 years. After that, we visited the Central National Library where Ms. Stacey taught us how to borrow and return books. So let us DROP THE BOOKS together! The doziest time during a day is just after lunch. However, we all were wide awake after travelling around Kampong Glam. Everything there amazed us. The old palace (Istana), the fragrant perfume as well as the traditional Malay games of peg-top and shuttlecock (capteh) all captured our attention.

The displays of Indian cultures in Little India left a deep impression on me. Many girls and boys tried the Indian tattoos (henna). The exquisite patterns are really wonderful to look at and will last for two weeks! I also got to try wearing a sari for the first time. The fabric is soft and cool. I think I know why Indian women like these traditional clothes so much.

Thanks to Ms. Stacey, and our guides Mr. Logan and Mr. Colin, we all had a happy and precious day. I hope we can have other chances to visit and learn about more and more Singapore's cultures in the future!

CAS Trip to Chiang Mai, Thailand

In the first week of the June holidays, 29 Year 5 students and three teachers set off to Chiang Mai for an eight day long service trip, teaching and building at the Sanpayangwittayakarn School. At the airport, the atmosphere was a mixture of excitement, nerves and anticipation.

We were welcomed to Chiang Mai with a feast of Thai cuisine including Tom Yum soup and mango sticky rice, before heading to the hotel for a restful evening before the challenge began! Early the following day, we set off to the Royal Project Foundation research station lodge, stopping on the way to stock up on teaching supplies and visit the school. The lodge was situated amongst a serene coffee plantation and even had its own on-site coffee shop! The simple lodgings were perhaps a little more basic and close to nature than many of us were used to, but were perfectly located for us to appreciate the beautiful Chiang Mai landscape and get to know an authentic, rural way of life.

The next four days were spent completing service at the Sanpayangwittayakarn School: one group of students quickly developed their construction skills and, guided by a contractor, installed a water filtration unit which provided students of the school with much needed clean drinking water; our most artistic students took on the task of painting the outside areas and decorating the school library with an engaging and educational mural; the budding teachers amongst the group put their teaching planning into action by taking over the teaching of classes ranging from Primary 1 to 6. Needless to say, each group faced their challenges (acquiring resources, overcoming language barriers and keeping their energy up throughout a long day of hard work) but they finished the week with smiles on their faces and much appreciation from the school.

After a tough week, we spent the last two days of the trip experiencing some of the highlights of Chiang Mai: we experienced life as a mahout (elephant trainer), learnt how to cook Thai cuisine and shopped at the bustling night market.

The trip was a genuine learning experience for everyone involved. From learning to sleep and live in more rugged conditions, to working out how to teach large groups of excitable students who spoke minimal English, the experiences have certainly enabled the students at ACS to grow individually and as a team, problem-solve and to step out of their comfort zones!

Bali CAS Trip

30 of us embarked on a CAS trip to Bali. Initially, we all had mixed emotions as we were not too sure of what to expect. However, all our anxiety turned to excitement the moment we were warmly greeted by the villagers of Les in Bali.

On the very first day of our trip, we met the village head and other villagers to exchange gifts. We were given traditional sarongs as a welcome gift – after learning how to tie them, most of us wore them throughout the trip. Everywhere we went, we were greeted with broad smiles; the villagers' hospitality was truly heartwarming. The elementary school children made our trip all the more memorable. We played football and badminton together, and they in turn taught us their traditional games which we thoroughly enjoyed. We enjoyed a movie night with the villagers – and everyone had a great time!

We spent two days renovating a computer centre for the children. We had all worked hard to raise funds in order to build the computer centre, and it was so satisfying to see it coming together. Since it was the first time all of us helped out in the construction work, we all found it a gruelling experience. None of us were used to the strenuous job. Through this experience, we developed more respect and felt a sense of gratitude towards the labourers who toil under the hot sun to build our comfortable city and homes.

During the trip, we also learned about the sea communities. These people have an important role in conservation of the marine environment, because their work affects us all. We got to participate in some of these conservation efforts through preparing coral plugs for coral reef restoration, and a marine debris survey.

After all that hard work, we got to explore the breathtaking beauty of Les village which was a real treat. I am glad that we embarked on this journey and got to not only serve the community but also learn more about their culture. As cliché as it may sound, we had so much fun that the eight days passed by in the blink of an eye. It was a truly fulfilling and memorable learning journey.

This year's DLC was held in support of the Rainbow Centre, and was run by volunteers from CKS house. We saw the biggest alumni turnout to date, with many returning from as far afield as the UK, USA and New Zealand. We would like to thank all 24 teams that participated and contributed towards this CKS charity fundraising event. We would also like to thank our other guest teams from SJI International Staff, Singapore Cricket Club and ACS PXG.

The event would not have been a success without the continued support of Mr David Loh and Mrs Angela Loh. This year's event was jointly sponsored by – Kosnica (Premium Gelato, Waffles & Cake), Samsui Supplies & Services, Founder Bak Kut Teh, JP Pepperdine, Mr Brian Kwan, Mr Aroy Tan, Mr Willie Ng, Mdm Chin Siew Lin, and our PSP.

Thanks also to all CKS staff and students who were in school from 8am until 6pm on the day itself, helping to manage the event made sure that the day was a successful one. In particular, Ariel

Loh and Abigail Ng worked hard to plan, execute and manage the event. Without their hard work, the day would not have run as smoothly as it had.

About Rainbow Centre, Singapore

Rainbow Centre Singapore is a not-for-profit Organisation that serves children and young people with a diverse range of moderate to severe developmental special needs, including autism, physical, visual and/or hearing disabilities; many of these children have multiple disabilities. Founded in 1992, Rainbow Centre currently runs two Special Education (SPED) schools for students aged 7-18 years old and two Early Intervention Programme (EIP) centres for children 2 months to 6 years old, at two campuses - Margaret Drive and Yishun Park. Rainbow Centre also trains special education teachers and caregivers, and provides consultancy services for others working with children with special needs through Rainbow Centre Training & Consultancy. Rainbow Centre is a registered charity with the Registry of Societies and an Institution of a Public Character under the Charities Act.

About the Building Project

Rainbow Centre Singapore is fundraising for an extension at its Margaret Drive campus to increase its capacity to serve more children. The new purpose-built facility will serve 350 children aged 6 years and below in early intervention, and will also support 130 students aged 7-18 years in its school programme as well as a new Special Student Care Centre for 50 students.

The new extension will also house a training academy to train social service professionals, parents, caregivers and volunteers. The building project is estimated to cost a total of $17 million, and the cost is supported in part by the Government. Rainbow Centre needs to raise about $6.5 million towards the project, and aims to complete the extension in 2017.
